POSTWORKS CONGRATULATES CLIENTS ON 2007 IFP GOTHAM AWARD WINS

Coverage of 17th Annual Awards Ceremony Debuts Tonight on NYC TV

HOLLYWOOD and NEW YORK—(Dec. 4, 2007)—PostWorks (www.postworks.com) today proudly congratulated several of its clients for their wins at the 17th Annual Gotham Awards Ceremony, held last week in New York at Brooklyn's Steiner Studios and set to appear tonight on NYC TV at 9pm EST.

Established in 1991 by IFP, the nation's largest membership organization of independent filmmakers, the Gotham Awards are among the leading awards for independent films, and the first major honors of the film awards season.

The honorees included Michael Moore's "SiCKO," which was named Best Documentary, as well as Craig Zobel, who brought home the Breakthrough Director Award for his work on the comedic feature "Great World of Sound." PostWorks' support for these two films included producing the Digital Intermediate (DI) for each of them.

Another honoree, "Before The Devil Knows You're Dead," which shared the Best Ensemble Cast Award, was edited at Orbit Digital, PostWorks' mobile editorial service and support company.

Last year's Breakthrough Director and Best Feature Gotham Awards went to Ryan Fleck and his film "Half Nelson," a 2006 festival favorite and a current Academy Award nominee, for which PostWorks also produced the 2K DI.
